Key Takeaways

Distribution cabinets and boxes typically range from around $20 for small plastic enclosures to over $1,000 for large, stainless steel or high-IP-rated cabinets.

Price Overview

Small plastic or ABS distribution boxes: These are suitable for residential or light commercial use, often accommodating 4–24 elements. Prices generally start at $20–$50 depending on size and IP protection. Medium-sized cabinets: Cabinets made of polyester, metal, or ABS with capacities of 12–72 elements, suitable for industrial or commercial installations, typically cost $100–$400.

Large or specialized cabinets: Floor-standing or wall-mounted stainless steel cabinets with high protection ratings (IP65–IP69, IK10) for outdoor or harsh environments can range from $500 to over $1,000, especially when customized or equipped with modular switchgear.

Factors Affecting Price

Material: Plastic and ABS are cheaper, while stainless steel or aluminum cabinets are more expensive. Capacity: The number of elements or modules the cabinet can hold directly impacts cost. Protection Rating: Higher IP (Ingress Protection) and IK (impact resistance) ratings increase price.
